

COMBATS BRUTAL SENIORS DECLARE

Their Resolutions Condemning the Class Rushes Couched in Plain Terms.

THERE WILL BE NO MORE

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] RICHMOND, N. C., October 31.—There will be no more class rushes at the Agricultural and Mechanical College here. All hands are satisfied, and it is given out that the rushes are at an end.

The resolutions adopted by the senior class last night, as reported in today's Times-Dispatch, declare the combats permitted by the faculty between the sophomores and the freshmen classes, to be brutal and free-for-all fights. The resolutions are to the effect that these rushes have promoted ill feeling between the two classes, that they are detrimental to the reputation of the college; that there were men in the rushes who were inclined to take unfair advantage of others; that the practice is brutal and results in injuries to many. For these reasons the senior class heartily disapproves the practice and declares that its influence to prevent them in future, hoping thereby to promote a more friendly spirit between the classes. Cadets Anthony and Wilson had their noses broken in the class fight yesterday, these being the most serious injuries sustained.

Governor Glenn honored a requisition to-day from the Governor of Pennsylvania for Richard McKwayne, now in jail at Charlotte. He is wanted in Pennsylvania to answer the charge of murder.

A lodge of Eagles is assured for Raleigh, more than sixty names of charter members having been enrolled last night at preliminary meeting.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] ASHEVILLE, N. C., October 31.—James McKay, a comparative stranger in this city, last night reported to the police that he had been held up and robbed by a companion, while driving in the Victoria District, and within an hour Horace Melton, a young man, in an unsavory police car, and Ed Prop, a hack driver, were in custody charged with highway robbery, and charged with the serious offense of abduction, who had been driving with McKay, strenuously denied his guilt, and invited search, saying he had but $4, and claiming that McKay had fallen out of the hack while intoxicated. When, however, two $10 bills were discovered concealed in the waistband of his trousers he was quickly locked up, and charged with the serious offense of highway robbery. Prop, the hackman was also arrested and locked up, charged with being an accessory.

SUE ON "CARPET BAG" BONDS.

Proposed Action Against North Carolina Repudiated Securities.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] ASHEVILLE, N. C., October 31.—Announcement has been made that suit will be brought against the State of North Carolina for the purpose of collecting on bonds issued by the Reconstruction period, and repudiated by the State about fifteen cents on the $100 and were later repudiated, on the ground that they were fraudulently issued. The amount involved runs into the millions. Proceedings were brought against this State by South Dakota, some time ago, but were dropped by that State after North Carolina had agreed to settle for the bonds on the same terms that had always been offered.

CHARLOTTESVILLE LEAGUE WILL SEE LAW ENFORCED

Issue an Address Telling of Grounds of Encouragement and Tell What Their Plans for the Future Are.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., October 31.—The Charlottesville League for Law and Order, which was organized for the local option election last June, which forced the Charlottesville saloons out of business, held last evening an important meeting and decided definitely upon certain lines of policy. This policy is stated in an address and contains, among other things, the following announcement:

The qualified voters of Charlottesville, on the fourth day of last June, declared that the welfare of the city would be promoted by the abolition of the saloons. Those who favored this action, and many who doubted its wisdom, are satisfied that the people were not mistaken in their hopes, for there are many evidences of marked improvement, undoubtedly due to the absence of the saloon.

There were predictions of an increase rather than a diminution of drunkenness, owing to a prophesied illicit sale of an inferior article of strong drink. It was contended that there would be a distressing content for law which would make it impossible to prevent the sale of intoxicants. The members of the league do not believe some who have no regard for law and order. These will, if possible, gratify their desire for gain in spite of the law.

Realizing this, and aware that the most vigilant and faithful officer can accomplish little unless sustained and supported by strong public sentiment, a number of citizens determined to contribute to the maintenance of the law, and have banded themselves together in an association called the Charlottesville League for Law and Order.

The members of this league do not propose to usurp in any way whatever the duties of the legally constituted authorities of the city. They have confidence in them, believing that, in the main, they have used their best efforts, and will continue to use them, to bring violators of the law into court.

Grounds of Encouragement.

This league is greatly encouraged: 1. By the prompt apprehension on the part of mayor and policeman and other officials of the league's determination to support them in their task of maintaining order.

2. By the great improvement in public order, as shown by the absence of objectionable crowds in certain localities.

3. By the reports of many of our retail merchants of larger sales, and prompt payment of small accounts.

4. By the evidence we have that the bank deposits, so far from showing any decrease, as was predicted, have improved.

5. By the fact that there has certainly been no increase in arrests, drunkenness, and because most of those recently arrested for this offense have testified in the Police Court that they bought the intoxicant at Orange or Gordonsville.

We might cite many other reasons for encouragement, but for the present make the following very brief announcement of our purpose:

1. First and foremost, we will keep the public in the true fact and thereby foster a wholesome public sentiment in favor of law and order.

2. We will stand by the properly constituted authorities in prosecuting lawbreakers.

It has been charged that the authorities elsewhere have failed to enforce local option legislation, and it has been predicted that a like unfortunate condition will prevail in our city.

We expect an honest effort on the part of the authorities of this city, but should any James Henry Dugan, Arthur Robertson, Henry Froehling, Mrs. M. A. Talbot, Mrs. Harry Lee Weston, Miss Lucy Cary Bridges, Miss Mary E. Bowers, Charles F. Taylor and wife, James L. Taylor, Miss Stasia Taylor, Rev. John Morgan, Dr. H. W. Hinton, E. F. # PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT TO PAY ANOTHER VISIT TO THIS NORFOLK COUNTY DAY

JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION GROUNDS, VA., October 31.—The report was current here to-day that President Roosevelt is disinclined to again visit the fair as an expression of his displeasure at the disregard with which the exposition board of directors treated Secretary of the Treasury Cortelyou in the matter of the selection of a successor to James M. Barr as director-general. The President was recently asked to make another visit here. In the face of the disquieting information that has come from the national capital, the committee, composed of Expositors President Tucker, Secretary Sheppard and others, appointed to go to Washington and square things there, has never ventured forth. The government is by far the largest creditor of the exposition, only a fraction of the $1,000,000 loan made by the government to the exposition having been returned.

Lieutenant-Governor J. Taylor Elyson is now a resident at the Virginia Building as the official representative of Virginia at all exposition functions demanding the recognition of the State. Mr. Elyson is to remain at the Virginia Building until the show closes.

This Norfolk County Day. Plans for the celebration of Norfolk County Day at the exposition have been completed, and the attendance tomorrow promises to be almost as large as on Greater Norfolk Day. At a meeting of prominent citizens, held in Hunt-ersville, a suburb of Norfolk, last night, definite arrangements were made for the celebration of the occasion, and there seems little doubt but that the county will turn out in force.

Mayor Buxton, General Manager Post of the Standard, W. S. Uphur, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and J. R. Sprague, president of the Merchants' Association, will hold a conference to-morrow morning for the purpose of discussing plans for Newport-News Day at the exposition.

Richmond Visitors. Richmond visitors to the exposition who registered in the Richmond City Building are George B. Davis, Mrs. J. B. Wood, Miss Florence Wood, R. W. Holman, Parker H. Arnall, Mrs. William Goodman, Mrs. Louis Nachman, Mrs. J. Byrne and wife, William M. Rittenour, B. Rittenour, Mrs. A. Bowman, Mrs. C. T. Ammons, Mrs. Richard Wagner, Mrs. B. M. Davenport, Bessie Garber Black, Martha B. Black, E. T. D. Myers, Jr., J. S. Moon, Mrs. B. C. Nelson, Miss Elizabeth Baldwin, Arthur W. Good, James Henry Dugan, Mrs. M. A. Talbot, Mrs. Harry Lee Weston, Miss Lucy Cary Bridges, Miss Mary E. Bowers, Charles F. Taylor and wife, James L. Taylor, Miss Stasia Taylor, Rev. John Morgan, Dr. H. W. Hinton, E. F. Goforth Will Recover. NORFOLK, VA., October 31.—J. W. Goforth, of North Carolina, who was overcome by the fumes of gas in the home of C. W. Hanbury yesterday, regained consciousness, and it is said will recover. Mr. Goforth is still at the Protestant Hospital, where it was reported his condition is very much better.

Robbed Conductor's Trunk. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., October 31.—Thieves entered the trunk of a Norfolk and Portsmouth Traction Company, last night, and stole $195 in cash from a trunk. No trace has been found of the robbers.

Father Brady Very Ill. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., October 31.—Rev. Father P. J. Brady, of St. Paul's Catholic Church, Portsmouth, is now in a critical condition. He was stricken with paralysis, and is unable to move. Little hope is entertained for his recovery.

Looking for His Wife. Arkansas Man Misses Boat at Old Point, But His Spouse Goes On. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., October 31.—Having missed his boat at Old Point, Dr. R. L. C. DeWoody, of Camps, Ark., requested the police to-day to assist him in locating a negro steamer which had left on a Norfolk and Washington steamer. It appears that the gallant physician left the boat at Old Point wharf in order to be of assistance to a mutual acquaintance of him and his wife, returning in time to see the steamer well on its way. He took the first ferryboat via Willoughby Spit, and has since been endeavoring to locate his spouse among the hotels and boarding-houses of the city. Although he has received the assistance of the police, Mrs. DeWoody has not yet been located.

POCAHONTAS TO CLOSE AFTER TO-NIGHT'S PRODUCTION. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., October 31.—To-morrow night will, all probably, see the last production of the "Pocahontas," which has been playing here at the Hippodrome since the early part of the summer. It is difficult to describe as the reason for discontinuing the most extensive spectacle ever seen in this section, and which has attracted to the exposition will lose one of the most attractive exhibits ever shown in Norfolk.

MANY PAY THEIR TAXES LAST DAY BEFORE PENALTY. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., October 31.—More than $75,000 in city taxes were taken today, this being the last day before the delinquent penalty is imposed. There have been collected at least $55,000 more in taxes collected this year than ever before.

Was Not in Earnest. NORFOLK, VA., October 31.—James A. Evans, the young man who started his friends Tuesday night by leaving one of them a letter in which he said his eyes would be closed in death before the letter was read, is alive and well, with a morning newspaper, containing an account of his threat and a copy of the letter.

Evans has been seen on the streets to-day, and apparently enjoys the notoriety he gained by his unusual method.

Mr. Consolvo to Retire. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] NORFOLK, VA., October 31.—Charles H. Consolvo, one of the best known managers of the Monticello Hotel in this city, has announced his intention of resigning. Mr. Consolvo has been in control of the hotel for some years, states as his reason for resigning the fact that a number of other interests require his entire attention.

Jerome in Lynchburg. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.] LYNCHBURG, VA., October 31.—Jerome K. Jerome, the well known author, humorist and playwright, was in the city yesterday morning, having arrived here Tuesday. Mr. Jerome is traveling with Miss Grace George, the well known theatrical star, for the purpose of producing a new comedy for her for the season of 1908-1909. Mr. Jerome did not talk for publication while in the city. It is expected he will tour the South with Miss George.

HISTORY EXHIBIT ATTRACTS NOTICE

Unique Features of Jamestown Said to Excel Other Expositions.

(Special from a Staff Correspondent.) JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION, October 31.—Exposition visitors who have journeyed to other World's Fairs always ask first thing on their arrival, "What is the most unique exhibit here?" Those who have been to St. Louis, Chicago or Buffalo have seen the conventional exhibits made by the various manufacturing concerns, and while the ingenuity of these vigorous organizations has been taxed for new features, there is a certain inevitable sameness in their efforts.

Possibly the most unique, original and valuable exhibit at the Jamestown Exposition is the collection placed by the various States in the History Building, just to the left of the Auditorium. It is one of the unfortunate buildings was the last one to be finished, and many early visitors, even to the end of July, were unable to enter. After viewing the treasures on exhibition, however, one is not surprised to learn that the building is a brick and concrete structure, apart from the other buildings, absolutely fireproof. It is patrolled night and day by armed guards, for here are exhibited some of the priceless treasures of American history.

Each of the States taking part in this unique undertaking, which far surpasses anything of the sort undertaken by any former exposition, and which emphasizes the historical character of the Jamestown Tercentennial Exposition, has a separate alcove designated for its State and local history. Portraits are a prominent feature of the display, many original oil like-nesses of Colonial celebrities ornamenting the walls.

Virginia, as is most fitting, is in the forefront in the historical display, portraits of her Governors and many Colonial, Revolutionary and Civil War figures ornamenting the Virginia display.

Perhaps the most unique display of the History Building are the cases of Virginia papers and letters, many of which are of great public value. In here first offered to the public view. These letters and papers had been forgotten, and generations of rats had trampled over them in the attic of the Virginia State Capitol. When the old capitol was remodelled a number of cases of old papers and letters were unearthed under the dirt of more than half a century, and on examination by the officers of the Virginia State Library were found to contain many priceless treasures.

Under the direction of Dr. James Eckonrode, of the State Library, these letters and papers have been classified and mounted, and their display under glass at the Jamestown Exposition makes one of the most interesting displays on the grounds. There may be seen autograph letters of the Governors, as well as many valuable Revolutionary documents.

Pasted on one of the cases containing Civil War papers is a flaming printed placard calling on all citizens of the town of Lexington to rally to the defense of Virginia against an invader of the town which led to the defense of the Rockbridge Battery.

No school child in the Southern States can afford to miss the opportunity of spending a morning in the History Building at Jamestown, for here are gathered many priceless papers and letters, and a collection of the like of which will probably never be gotten together again. At other expositions the most interesting exhibits have been made by commercial and manufacturing concerns who have secured possession in its early days. It is surprising to learn how many people there are in the Virginias, Maryland and the Carolinas who, given their best opportunity to see a complete and symmetrical exposition at reduced railroad cost, have so far failed to take advantage of their opportunity and visit the exhibit show. Those who have not seen it since the pier was completed in September have missed the most spectacular event ever presented at an exposition; the sight from the water front and across Hampton Roads, of the thousands of lights as they come on

Catarrh of The Stomach

A Most Dangerous Disease, Which Causes Serious Results, Unless Properly Treated.

Catarrh of the Stomach is very common, and of known origin. It is a most obstinate disease, which, when neglected or improperly treated with cheap patent medicines, tonics, drugs, pills and other remedies, results in a broken down constitution and often consumption and death.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure every other disease of the stomach, except cancer, is the result of poor digestion. The digestive organs have become weak, and are unable to do their duty. Your food is only half digested, and as a result you become affected with loss of appetite, pressure and fullness after eating, heartburn, vomiting, water-brash, tenderness at pit of stomach, slimy tongue, bad taste in the mouth, constipation, pain in limbs and face, depression, nervousness, dizziness, diarrhoea, sick headaches, dizziness, mental depression, nervous weakness, and many other common symptoms.

Your stomach cannot digest the food you eat, then the stomach needs a rest, as that is the only way you can get relief from your suffering. But no rest, because your body needs plenty of nourishment, because you must live, and in order to live you must eat, and if you eat, then your stomach must properly digest, and if your stomach is too weak to do the work, then you must get a substitute that will do the work.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are the only known substitute that will digest your food as well as any other medicine. They contain vegetable and fruit essences, aseptic pepsin (gov. test), golden seal and dillseed, the very elements of nature, vomiting, water-brash, tenderness at pit of stomach, slimy tongue, bad taste in the mouth, constipation, pain in limbs and face, depression, nervousness, dizziness, diarrhoea, sick headaches, dizziness, mental depression, nervous weakness, and many other common symptoms.

A MYSTERY

Two men were fishing on a Raft and one of them fell off into the Water. The one who didn't fall off called to his Companion who was flustered in the Water, and told him to be Careful and not get his Feet Wet. The idea was that wet feet will produce cold and perhaps Pneumonia. It was well meant advice, and if it had been a True Story it would have gone on to say that the Man in the Water who was drowning for his life replied that wet feet would make no difference as he had a bottle of Gowan's Pneumonia Cure in his Pocket which Cures all Coughs and Colds and anything where inflammation is the Trouble. Now whether the moral to this is not to fall overboard or to have a bottle of Gowan's in your pocket is still shrouded in mystery.
